MAKING GOOD ROADS

UNITED STATES AWAY BEHIND REST OF THE WORLD IN THIS WORK.

EVOLUTION OF THE HIGHWAY

Awakening of the People to Necessity for Road Improvement Slow Process—State Governments at Last Aroused—Vote Money for Work.

By HOWARD H. GROSS.

Is it not strange that in this country, where we have the largest aggregate of wealth that the world has ever known and where we have achieved the greatest success in human history along certain lines of endeavor, that we have failed to keep pace with the march of progress, and that we are a century behind the rest of the world in the matter of handling public roads?

The conditions of the highways in America are a great surprise to the foreign traveler, who has been used to smooth, hard roads throughout his land. Upon his arrival in New York he is overwhelmed by the immensity of the buildings and the gigantic scale upon which everything is done. A day or two in the metropolis prepares him to believe that Americans can do anything and accomplish anything. The resources of the country seem to be boundless. In this frame of mind he starts his journey westward, and against the plan were soon among its foremost advocates.

New Jersey began state aid with an appropriation of $50,000 per year, this sum was soon increased to five times the amount. The state aid plan of road building spread from state to state, until now fully half of the states have adopted it, and it has everywhere proved popular and successful. It is the plan that gets the roads and so distributes the burden that the taxation is not appreciably higher than it was before. State aid would have been impractical in the early days of the republic, but now under the country-wide plan of distribution of food products and the factory output and the enormous amount of city and corporate property, all of which is benefited by good roads. The plan removes a heavy burden from the farmers, by requiring all classes of property to stand its just proportion of the cost.

New York presents a striking example of the growth of the good roads sentiment and the possibilities of road construction. This state began state aid with a meagre appropriation of $50,000, but in five years by a heavy majority voted a constitutional amendment authorizing the issue of $50,000,000 of bonds for state aid in road building. Thus the wave of progress goes on with increasing momentum, and it will eventually sweep the whole country.

When one looks back over the campaign for good roads in any community he finds that when the subject was first brought up scores of good people, became frightened at the expense, and they were loud in denunciation of the proposal, saying and believing, that it meant the confiscation of their property. That they never

FRESH EGGS IN GOOD DEMAND

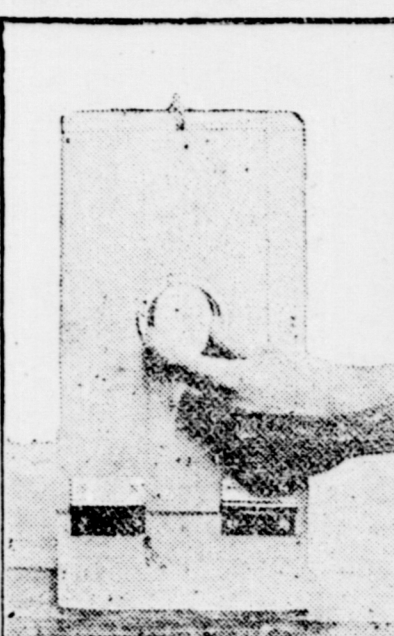

Little More Attention to Details Will Result in Profit, Repaying Time and Labor.

(By PROF. A. G. PHILLIPS, Kansas.)

The demand for eggs seems practically unlimited, more especially for the better grades. The growth of the storage industry has tended to equalize prices by increasing the demand in summer when fresh eggs are plentiful and supplying the deficiency in winter when fresh eggs are scarce.

Since the demand is greatest for the best grades, it seems obvious that a little more attention to details will result in a profit amply repaying the extra time and labor involved.

It is not the purpose here to enter into any discussion of the ways of increasing the production of eggs, but simply to point out the possibilities of profit as a result of extra care in handling and marketing the eggs now produced. The extra profit is to be made by obtaining the top retail price, and, as consumers become acquainted with the product, by obtaining a premium of from one to five cents per dozen over the regular price paid for ordinary eggs.

In order to obtain top prices for eggs, they must be uniform in size, uniform in color, and uniform in quality. The uniformity in color is not always important and depends on the market; uniformity in size excludes small eggs and unusually large ones as well; while uniformity in quality calls for absolutely clean eggs that have been gathered promptly after being laid, kept under the best possible conditions, and marketed not more than three or four days after they are laid.

TEACHING HEN GOOD LESSON

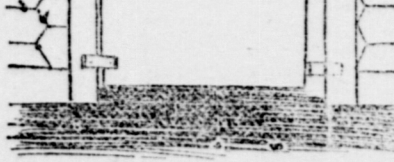

Poultry Gate as Shown in the Illustration Will Save Cussing and Garden Truck.

Barrels of perspiration may be saved by the poultry gate shown herewith, which is reproduced, with the article from the New England Homestead. Whoever has unintentionally acquired the hen chaining, hen-cussing habit may cure himself with this little device.

In the fence, preferably at a point near where the fowls are fed, a little door about 10 by 12 inches is hung on the inside of the yard, so as to always swing shut without springs. It is stopped from swinging outward by the peg shown at the right.

Mrs. Hen, returning repentant from the garden, will poke her head into every mesh of the fence in her efforts to reach her happy companions. The gate will thus allow her to enter without excitement or commotion from the lord of the harem from the irate owner.

But another advantage may be gained by using the gate in connection with the laying pens. If the two gates are used, one opening inward in front of the nest, the other opening outward at the back of the side, so that the hens may go to another yard after laying, the poultryman may know which hens have and have not laid. Thus he may avoid the trouble usually connected with ordinary trap nests.

Breeders for Next Year.

This is the season of the year to buy your breeders for next, as now the large breeders are selling at bargain prices in order to have the room needed for the growing stock.

SIX SAVORY STANDBYS

REFUGE FOR COOK IN TIME OF EMERGENCY.

Salad Dressing That Will Keep for Long Period—Easy Chocolate Cake and Frosting—Delicious Sour Cream Cookies.

Salad Dressing (easy to make and will keep very well)—Yolks of four eggs, one teaspoon of dry mustard, five teaspoons of sugar, one tablespoon of flour, half cup mild vinegar, one cup water, a little salt and pepper. Boil in double boiler till thick, then add a piece of butter the size of a large egg or a cup of sour cream. Put in a glass jar and use as needed. To make it taste fresh and much more delicious add a little whipped cream just before serving.

Easy Chocolate Cake and Frosting—One cup sugar, half cup butter (scant), three-fourths cup milk, two tablespoons chocolate, one and two-thirds cups flour, whites of two eggs, two teaspoons baking powder, vanilla. Bake in dripping or cake pan and when cold pour over the following: Frosting—Boil one cup of white sugar with five tablespoons of water till it just begins to string. Have beaten the yolks of two eggs and three heaping tablespoons of chocolate. Pour the syrup over this, beat a little and pour over the cold cake. Easy to do and seldom fails.

Nut Leaf—Mix and sift two cups flour, one-third cup sugar, four teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon of salt. Using the tips of the fingers, work into the above two and a half level tablespoons butter, then add one cup of milk, one egg and one egg yolk well beaten, then half cup of chopped walnuts and beat thoroughly. Put in a buttered pan. Cover and let stand 20 minutes. Bake in a moderate oven.

Sour Cream Cookies—One cup sour cream, one cup sugar, one egg, two and a half cups flour, one level teaspoon soda and the same of salt. Flavor and drop on well buttered pans. Pat down a little, sprinkle with sugar and put a blanched almond or walnut on each. Bake in a quick oven.

Blots—These taste much better than they sound and are a general favorite. One cup brown sugar, one cup butter, two eggs, one cup flour, two teaspoons baking powder, half cup walnuts, same of raisins and some of currants, three tablespoons chocolate, two cups rolled oats. Flavor and salt. It will be pretty stiff. Drop from teaspoon on buttered pan. Bake.

Real Shortbread. As we all know, this toothsome delight is usually baked in a round tin and cut into wedge shaped or triangular pieces, but being so very rich here is a better way. Involving no waste of crumbs and no danger of eating a larger proportion than is good for one.

Half a pound of flour sifted three times must be placed in a bowl and a quarter of a pound of butter thoroughly rubbed into it; add a quarter of a pound of granulated sugar and mix into a very stiff paste with a small egg. Roll out thin and cut round shape, cookie size and bake lightly in a quick oven. These are good for a "surprise" party, for it is amusing to see the face of the enter who expected an ordinary "cookie" instead of an extraordinary one.

Digestible Cuet Dumplings.

One cup of finely chopped beef suet, one generous pint of flour, one teaspoonful of black pepper, 1½ teaspoonfuls of salt. Mix all well together and add enough cold water to make as thick as biscuit dough. Roll out and cut with a biscuit cutter or knife, drop into boiling water and cook for one-half hour, drain and serve hot. Serve with roast meat or the dumplings may be slightly browned in the oven after boiling. They are also good added to a meat stew.

Curry of Eggs.

Boil six eggs 20 minutes. When cold, peel and cut into quarters. Make a sauce by frying one heaping tablespoon of onions in one tablespoon of butter. Take onions out and to butter add one heaping tablespoon of flour and a half a tablespoon of curry powder, one and one-half cups white stock or milk, one-half teaspoon salt and three dashes of pepper; add eggs and onion. Put in oval dish and cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake a light brown.

Sandwich Novelty.

White bread sandwiches sprinkled with sugar are a delight in one's childhood where everybody has a sweet tooth. It may be that the fashionable "nervous stomach" has been cultivated as much by the goodies in the way of cakes and buns served at daily teas as anything else. Sweet sandwiches are twice as healthy and to most persons are a welcome relief from the universal American cake habit.

Roman Meat Pie.

Butter a large pie dish and line with boiled macaroni. Cut up any good cold meat—veal, chicken, ham or tongue; make a layer of each in the dish, putting a layer of white or brown sauce over each layer, and season to taste. Pour a layer of rich white sauce on top, sprinkle over some grated Parmesan cheese and finish with strips of rolled macaroni.

Couldn't Walk!

"I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women," writes Mrs. Anna Jones, of Kenney, Ill. "For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides. I tried several different doctors, but I grew worse. Finally, our druggist advised Cardui for my complaint. I was so thin, my weight was 115. Now, I weigh 163, and I am never sick. I ride horseback as good as ever. I am in fine health at 52 years."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

We have thousands of such letters, and more are arriving daily. Such earnest testimony from those who have tried it, surely proves the great value of this vegetable, tonic medicine, for women.

Cardui relieves women's sufferings, and builds weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a trial. It should help you, for it has helped a million others. It is made from pure, harmless, herb ingredients, which act promptly and surely on the womanly organs. It is a good tonic. Try it! Your druggist sells it.

ONE enjoyable feature of this campaign is the fact that all the leading candidates mercifully refrain from quoting statistics. It was statistics that killed that excellent organization, the populist party. It got a statistic crossways in its cosmos and choked.

Eczema.

Strictly speaking, eczema is not a clearly marked disease with a definite cause and course, but a general term applied to a great variety of inflammatory affections of the skin, due to a great variety of causes. The eruption may assume almost any appearance; there may be redness, roughness, thickening or scaling of the skin, sometimes with deep cracks; there may be little blisters, pimples, or pustules, which break and form scabs; or the surface of the skin may be raw, constantly exuding a thin, sticky fluid. Whatever the form of the eruption, there is almost always intense itching and burning; and sometimes pain not unlike that of neuralgia is felt.

The causes of eczema are as numerous as the varieties of the eruption. There is not necessarily constitutional taint, although eczema is very common in gouty persons. It is not due to any septic infection of the blood, but it may be a symptom of intestinal autotoxification. Indeed, in many cases the bowels are inactive, and one of the first necessities in the treatment is the removal of this condition.

External irritants, especially such as act constantly, owing to the sufferer's occupation, are common causes—the soap suds of the washer woman, for example, the flour of the baker, or the developing solution of the photographer. Heat, as from an open fire in winter, or the sun in summer, exposure to intense cold, scratching to relieve itching from any cause, in short, whatever causes irritation of the skin may provoke eczema in one predisposed.

The cure demands a recognition and removal of the real cause; but even when that has been done, the persistent inflammation requires soothing, and sometimes antiseptic applications, and often internal remedies and a change of diet are also necessary. Self treatment in eczema is dangerous, for if you apply any substance that is not precisely what the eruption calls for, you are likely to make it worse.

For information concerning the Fair apply to any of the following Committee: C. C. Hayden, Greenville; Miss Jennie Jeffers, Greenville; Miss Gabe Robinson, Mooreman; M. C. Hughes, Mud River; Miss Opal Taylor, Graham; Miss Annie Gibbs, Depoy; or Miss Amy M. Longest, Powderly.

No matter what you want in sewing machine supplies you can get them from Roark.

This is a season for greater development. Get in touch with the Educational Fair movement.

Broadening the Field of Surgery.

Dr. John Murphy of Chicago, in a remarkable interview given to the Paris correspondent of The Daily News, as set forth in a recent special cable dispatch published in its columns, predicts that the surgery of the future will tend more and more to the prevention of disease instead of being the last desperate resort of stricken human beings.

Examples cited by Dr. Murphy of what is already done in this respect, through transplantation of living tissues and bones and treatment of the "four mysterious glands" which control the growth of the body, are extremely impressive. By stimulating the thyroid gland for example, a youth may be made to grow much taller than he would under normal conditions. So, also, one of the other glands regulates the growth of the body in width. Both affect the size and shape of the bones.

Marvels of surgery these have been in the past, since the adoption of anesthesia. But if the surgeons shall become active agents in preventing diseases in cooperation with physicians, and also they shall perform such wonders as regulating the development of the body, the shape of the face and so on, they will add much to the satisfaction of human existence.—Chicago News.

The Acute Bilious Attack.

Biliousness is a term covering a group of symptoms such as headache, nausea and vomiting, that are usually attributed to the disordered action of the liver. The word is more popular with the laity than with the doctors, for the reason that it does not often correctly describe the condition. It is true that the liver does its work better at one time than another, and that there are people with whom it never does it very well. But it is also true that in most cases of "biliousness" the difficulty is principally with the stomach or the bowels, whereas the trouble with the liver is only a sort of rebellion against the intolerable burdens unfairly laid upon it. The treatment of such cases will naturally be unsuccessful unless it is directed to the organs actually at fault.

Acute bilious attacks may occur at any age, and sometimes afflict certain members of a family for generations after generations, from childhood to old age. Children of northern parents who are born in the tropics seem to be especially susceptible. Emotion, fatigue or even physical exercise will often bring on an attack, especially exercise that produces irregular vibrations, such as swinging, motor riding and railroad travel.

Many sufferers from bilious attacks are obliged to avoid certain articles of diet. As a general rule, they are injuriously affected by sweets, excess of fats, mackerel, sardines, pork, liver, pastry and shell fish.

The attack itself is marked by vertigo, faintness, acid eructations and gripping pains, although the latter are not always present. There is always profound exhaustion and semistupor, like that in seasickness.

Fortunately, a bilious attack tends to cure itself, first by the throwing off of the irritating bile, and second by the rest of the digestive functions resulting from the complete loss of the appetite. Treatment should follow the hints given by nature. The patient should lie down in a darkened room.

If the headache is severe, ice-water cloths or a menthol preparation may be used, and nothing should enter the mouth except a small piece of ice from time to time, to allay thirst, or a glass of hot water to assist the vomiting and help to cleanse the stomach.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

DORR'S LITTLE REBELLION.

By A. W. MACY.

The little state of Rhode Island contains only 1,250 square miles, but it is big enough to have had a rebellion of its own. In 1839 Charles I. Dorr, the Rhode Island seceder, was elected, according to which only those owning a certain amount of property were entitled to the right of suffrage. Curiously enough this provision was held to remain in force for 180 years, that is, till 1919. In 1844 there was an agitation to change the provision, and it resulted in the formation of two parties, the "Suffrage" and the "Law and Order." Each determined to secure the administration of affairs, and each elected a set of state officers. The "Suffrage" party chose Francis W. Dorr as governor, and took possession of the state arsenal. The militia was called out and Dorr was obliged to flee. He made another attempt, but was overpowered by United States troops. He was tried, convicted of treason, and sentenced to imprisonment for life. After the excitement died out he was pardoned and the people adopted the present constitution.

Burial was at Fairmount cemetery Tuesday morning, following a service at A. M. E. Zion church conducted by the pastor Rev. C. N. Payne. She is survived by her husband and a young child.

Good morning! Are you ready for the visits of Jack Frost?

The address delivered at (Jraham last Friday night and at the court house Saturday night by Prof. J. W. Bell, colored, of Earlinton, were highly appreciated by his audiences. He is a man who is doing much good for his race, and as principal of the high school at Earlinton he has built up an institution that is very creditable. He advocates the abolition of the saloon, and his talk was logical and convincing. Many white people heard him at his appointments. His work here is fully appreciated by everyone.

Roads are in as good condition now as have been known for some time.

The city council is having several concrete crossings put in, in correspondence with the pavements that are being built in many sections of town.

Examination for Rural Carrier.

Saturday was the day for examination of applicants for the position of carrier on rural free delivery Route No. 1. There is considerable interest attaching to this position, as the salary has been raised to $1,100, and while there were nineteen persons presented themselves for the examination, the wonder is that there were not three times the number. For with the extra money that can be picked up in the service, there are not scores of men in town and nearby who are making such a sum. Postmaster Poole conducted the examination, and has forwarded the papers to the department at Washington for grading, and it is thought the appointment will be made soon.

If you are in favor of prohibiting the sale of whiskey in Muhlenberg, you want to vote NO at the election Saturday.

To Vote DRY You Must Vote "NO"; To Vote WET You Should Vote "YES"

In order that no person may accidentally fail to vote his sentiments in the Prohibition election Saturday by placing his stencil in the wrong square this article is printed in THE RECORD.

Following is a resemblance of the ballot as it will appear to be voted Saturday:

Name of Voter _____

Residence _____

ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF THE SALE OF BART (YES) OR LOAN OF SPIRITUOUS? VINOUS OR MALT LIQUORS IN MUHLENBERG COUN- (NO)? KENTUCKY?

It will be seen that in order to vote against the sale, barter or loan of liquors, or in other words, in order to vote DRY one must put the stencil mark in the square marked "NO" to vote WET he must put the stencil in the square marked "YES".

There is likely to result considerable confusion from the form of the question, many people believing that to vote DRY they must vote "YES" when as a matter of fact the exact opposite is true. Many voters may not take time to read the question and may by reason of that vote the exact opposite of their sentiments and desires and this article is written for the especial benefit of those who might make that mistake.

To vote DRY you must vote "NO". To vote WET you should vote "YES".

Insurance Rates Reduced.

The State Insurance Commission, composed of M. C. Clay, of Mt. Sterling, chairman; Ruby Laffoon, of Madisonville, and N. O. Gray, of Kuttawa, last Saturday announced new insurance rates for Kentucky on residence and contents, a reduction of something like 35 per cent, being made. Rates hereafter will be on a basis in line with those charged by other states, many of which have for several years had such commissions to regulate the charges for fire protection. One of the best features of the law is that with the reduction of rates the companies will more closely scrutinize the risks, this State having been one of the greatest sufferers from fire losses on account of the general practice of over-insuring property. The commission is at work on a schedule for mercantile risks, and it is certain there will be a material reduction secured in this line, also.

It will soon be time to don your schedule K's.

Revival Services at Baptist Church.

A series of revival services will be commenced at the Baptist church next Sunday, and will continue until Oct. 13. The pastor, Rev. Robert H. Tandy, will be assisted by Mr. T. N. Combs, of Owensboro, who is one of the most prominent preachers in this section, and a man who is acknowledged as an evangelist and revivalist of much power. The services will continue until October 13, and everyone is cordially invited to attend all the services.

Best one ever made—the Kirsch curtain rods; Roark has a large line.

Mrs. Felix Vincent died at her home near East Union last Saturday, after an illness of only a few days, a congestive chill being the inception of her illness. Burial was at the East Union graveyard Sunday afternoon, following a service by Rev. Woodson. A husband and two children survive, and many friends join them in their grief.

Lost—Several weeks ago, between town and the home of Mr. J. G. Barkley, a ladies' dark blue coat, firm tag inside collar marked "Chicago." Will reward under; report to this office.

Go to Sam R. Martin's tonorial parlor and bath house for an easy, close shave or an up to date hair cut; near the Max Weir corner; leading barber shop in town, assisted by two first-class workmen.

Prizes are offered for 30 many different things, that every boy and girl in the County can have something on exhibit at the School Fair.

Oates-Shelton Wedding.

Greenville society has for some time been taking active interest in an event which will be consummated at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Ethel Oates will be married to Mr. Arch Shelton, the ceremony to be performed by the pastor, Rev. O. A. Barbee at the Cumberland Presbyterian church, in the presence of many invited guests. Miss Caroline Oates, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, will wear a dress of white over yellow and carry yellow chrysanthemums; the best man will be Mr. William Martin. The bride will wear a traveling suit of brown. Messrs. Wm. Brizendine, Wm. and Richard Pannell will be ushers. Miss Grace Bohannon, at the organ, will play Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the bridal party enters, and during the ceremony Schumann's "Trauerrie" and the Intermezzo song from Cavalleria Rusticana "My Heart's Long Dream of You," will be rendered by Miss Ruth Bohannon.

Tuesday morning a miscellaneous shower was given the bride-to-be at the home of Mr. W. A. Wickliffe, presided over by Misses Grace Bohannon, Helen and Carrie Jane Puryear and Louise Wickliffe, and which was attended by a host of her girl friends of the town. The gifts were drawn from an improvised well, and the collection was a source of joy and pride to the recipient, as well as those who offered the remembrances.

Following the marriage the couple will leave for Swink, Colo., where their new home will be established; the bride is an attractive, accomplished young woman, genial and popular in social circles, and the groom is an old Muhlenberg boy who went west some years ago and with a good start has improved his opportunities, being engaged in the drug business at Sink. The couple will carry with them the good cheer and best wishes of a host of warm friends and admirers.

There should be a full vote in the county Saturday. This is a question in which everyone is interested, and should express himself.

Armanda Smith, colored, died at Powderly Tuesday and was interred in the family graveyard.

Cats in Carriages.

The town is being overrun with cats, as nearly every house has one or more. So serious has become the situation that many persons kill all the young that appear; but some tender hearted persons cannot do this, and so to get rid of them put them in a bag, place it in a buggy, take a drive into the country. This always happens to be at night, and at the first likely spot the felines are turned loose. People living out of town have caught on to the scheme, but Mr. Cecil E. Roark, living south of town, has put in effect the best measure of retaliation, or reciprocity. For some weeks he has been finding a stray kitten or two every few mornings, and Monday morning he picked up six of them put them in a sack and drove to town. When he reached court square he liberated the kittens, to the amusement of many persons, and promised to return all strays that came to him.

Every teacher must hustle the fair is a sure thing. Get ready for it.

Mr. E. A. Green and Miss Elmer Edith Murphy were married at 4 o'clock last Thursday afternoon at the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Murphy, near Green's Chapel. Rev. G. B. McDonald was the officiating clergyman, and quite a number of friends were in attendance. An elegant supper was served after the ceremony. Both are well known and popular young people of the county, and have the best wishes of a wide circle of friends.

The annual sessions of the Synodical conference of the M. E. Church South, opened yesterday at Morgantown, with a heavy attendance. Bishop J. H. McCoy, of Birmingham, Ala., will preside. Last year Greenville had the honor and pleasure of entertaining this distinguished body.

Fall equinox Monday.

Telephone No 5 and your laundry will be caught and delivered.

The School Fair will be held Nov. 13, making it two weeks earlier.

Notice to A. S. of E. Members.

The regular session of the County Union will meet in Greenville on the first Thursday and Friday in October which will be on the 3d and 4th. All locals will please elect delegates and send as County officers, Board Members and delegates to the State Union are to be elected. Hoping we will have a full delegation I am,

Yours Respectfully,
M. W. CARVER,

HOT FLASHES.

Women in middle age often complain of hot flashes. They are at that stage of life—when their delicate organism needs a tonic and helping-hand which only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give them. Many women suffer needlessly from girlhood to womanhood and from motherhood to old age—with backache, dizziness or headache. A woman often becomes sleepless, nervous, "broken-down," irritable and feels tired from morning to night. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, ask your neighbor about Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Mrs. J. Lessor, of 221 S. Benton Street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I wrote you about nine months ago, telling you of my condition. I have a fine baby now—she weighed nine pounds when born. She is my third child and the strongest of them all. My suffering was only for two hours. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Dr. Pierce's Smart-Weed. I never had a well day before I took your medicine. I was surprised how well I felt—could eat—was always hungry, and never had a sick stomach. The nurse who was with me said the medicine was wonderful because I got along so nicely after having had so much trouble before. She intends to recommend it to all her suffering patients. Everybody is astonished at me because I only weighed 102 pounds before and now I weigh 135. I have had several ladies come to me and ask about Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am willing to recommend it to all who suffer and want help. If any want information I will be glad to give it to them."

HOW THEY GROW.

A ten-year-old lad by the name of James Something had his first glimpse of country life last summer. He learned a lot of new things about what a cow or sheep or a colt will do or will not do under a given set of circumstances, but he got the greatest surprise of his rural sojourn when he walked by a swampy place next morning and saw a bunch of cattails growing.

He took one more look to make sure he saw aright, and then he broke into a lops for the farmhouse.

"Say!" he yelled excitedly at the farmhouse, "I never knowed them things growed on long stems like that! I've e't a lot of 'em, but I never seen 'em growing before. Do they all grow that way?"

The farmer asked him what he was talking about.

"Why, them sausages!" he replied. "Ain't you noticed 'em?"

Happy Married Life.

"I married a suffragette," said Mr. Cholmondeley Rippington of Hyde Park, "and for five years have found unspeakable happiness."

"I'm glad to hear it," said the suffragette leader.

"Yes," said Rippington, "Mrs. Rippington has been in jail four years and three months altogether."—Harper's Weekly.

WHAT DID SHE MEAN?

Reggy—Miss Cunningham, here is another article stating that fish are good for the brain. What kind of fish do you think would suit my brain?

Miss Cunningham—Why, weakfish, my dear boy.

A Word of Warning.

Oh, do not let the Great White Way. Sing siren songs unto your soul. Unless you have the time to play. And also have a big bank roll.

A Forced Confession.

"Pshaw! Here's the rain coming down again and somebody's stolen my umbrella."

"Somebody's stolen what?"

"Well, the umbrella I've been carrying for the last week or so."—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Wife Slander.

"Is it true that your daughter has married a highbrow, Mrs. Rockingham?"

"No; that story was started by some of the girls who are jealous. Daisie's husband is a writer, but his royalties amount to over $40,000 a year."

The Result.

"I suppose," said the young matron, sweetly, "that these long, sweeping plumes we ladies wear on our hats annoy you gentlemen."

"Annoy us!" cried the crabbed old bachelor; "they just tickle us to death."

Conveys a Wrong Impression.

Teacher—Your full name is Bertha Johnson Kenmore, is it? Why do you not write it that way, my dear?

Fourteen-Year-Old Girl (blushingly)—Because it sounds as if I was married, ma'am.

"Sorry, boss, but I sees my goll around 'er corner!"

Is It Possible?

We information crave, in fact, we're advertising for some good way to save without consulting.

A Willing Victim.

"There is a man in our block who drove his wife from home last night, and before all the neighbors, too."

"What a brute!"

"She didn't think so. He was trying their new car."

"I had been given up to die by three of our best doctors,"

I could not stand it to be on my feet and I was so swelled in the abdomen I could hardly breathe.

But thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nervine I am able to be about the streets, a walking advertisement of the curative qualities of your remedies, although I am 70 years old."

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, flatulency, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve weakness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Young blood to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, flatulency, indigestion, bad breath and yellow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
